

NOSPECTATORS

BEYOND THE RENWICK

No Spectators: Beyond the Renwick brings the art of Burning Man to DC! Now through December 2018, six installations by Burning Man artists take over the streets and parks of Washington's vibrant Golden Triangle neighborhood. This presentation is the result of an exciting collaboration between the Renwick Gallery of the Smithsonian American Art Museum and the Golden Triangle Business Improvement District (BID), and is an extension of the Renwick's exhibition No Spectators: The Art of Burning Man. Explore the artworks at the locations listed below. #NoSpectators

1 Maya's Mind
Mischell Riley

800 block of 17th Street NW between H and I Streets

4 Ursa Major
Mr. & Mrs. Ferguson

900 block of 19th Street NW between I and K Streets

2 Golden Spike
HYBYCOZO

Connecticut Avenue and K Street NW (installed on median)

5 Future's Past
Kate Raudenbush

Adjacent to James Monroe Park at Pennsylvania, I and 21st Streets NW

3 XOXO
Laura Kimpton

Corner of 18th and I Streets NW

6 Untitled
Jack Champion

Edward R. Murrow Park at Pennsylvania Avenue and 18th Street NW

No Spectators: Beyond the Renwick, an installation of outdoor sculptures and related programming in the neighborhood, is made possible by a collaboration with the Golden Triangle Business Improvement District and support from Lyft.

Download the Lyft app and go. Get $5 off your first 2 rides with code NOSPECTATORS.

= Bike Racks

= Metro Stop

Renwick Gallery
Smithsonian American Art Museum

SAAM Smithsonian American Art Museum
SAAM is 9 blocks away at 8th and G Streets

Photos: 1. Darrell E. Ansted 2. Image courtesy of the artist 3. Scott London 4. © Lisa Ferguson 5. © Kate Raudenbush 2010 6. Unknown photographer